It is hot, hot, hot, as we head for the press on our summer edition of the Aire Valley Mag. I hope you will enjoy a break and get out in the sunshine at some point.

We've been reflecting on where we were last year at this time when the county was fully ensconced in the Tour de France. What does it mean to us now and what is the legacy of Le Tour?

Leeds City College Keighley Campus is looking forward and asking us where will we be one year from now...The college is shifting its focus and championing the industrial centre of excellence.

Don't miss out on Silsden's Grand de Party...and the Galas in both Silsden and Cowling in July... see more inside.

Have a great July and August and we'll see you again in September.

Liz Barker, editor

Forging Ahead

With over 100 years of combined experience rolled into the team, Aire Valley Forge has built its reputation on time honed skills and masterful know-how. Founder, Paul Munton, set up the business fueled from his own passion for traditional blacksmithing & forge work.

Bringing the latest technology of autocad design together with craftsmanship sets Aire Valley Forge apart from its competitors in the area.

"We incorporate handcrafted work in the simplest of products and rarely use off the shelf solutions unless they are deemed the most appropriate," Paul asserts.

And despite the challenging economic climate of recent years, Paul hasn't shied away from investment. The workshop has the latest equipment necessary for a 21st century forge but retains the traditional charm of an old blacksmith's space.

Commissions vary widely from a simple hand forged candlestick to a spiral staircase. Mainly garden gates and railings make up the bulk of the work; artistic and creative input is often sought to enhance the output. Bespoke work continues to be a speciality.

With a 5 star rating on the Guild of Master Craftsmen, it is safe to say that customers are delighted to endorse the work and praise the skills and craft of Aire Valley Forge.

Referral rates are high as AVF has established a good reputation both locally and further afield into North Yorkshire.

Kind, courteous and polite staff who tidy up the site at the end of the day are always appreciated... Feedback is encouraged and a culture of improvement shapes the company philosophy.

For quality work in metal with an artistic flair, contact Aire Valley Forge.

A Golden Opportunity

For Denise and Tony Holmes of Oakworth's Golden Fleece, the pub has been the centre of their lives and livelihood for the past 8 years. Situated in the heart of the village, The Golden Fleece takes centre stage in community life.

As joint licencees, the couple's commitment to the vibrant pub is exemplified in the activities they host and support as well as the annual fun day and other events that have raised funds for Sue Ryder Manorlands hospice. (Over £13,000 and counting so far) "There is a lot going on here...pub quiz night, Tuesday club, pool team, community meetings; and in terms of wider services to the community, we cater for private parties, funeral teas, christenings, etc."

"It's a lovely place to work and we enjoy being a part of most things that happen in the village," said Denise. Tony agreed, and added, "We're now ready to retire and hand over the baton to someone else. We would like to be sitting at the other side of the bar as customers." Tony and Denise are including the 16 year,

Denise & Tony, looking forward to retirement.

"Our hope is that the pub will go to someone who will maintain the community links and support the village. There is now a fantastic opportunity for a couple or an individual to take over the reins from us and build on what is already a successful and well established business, having had only three licencees in over 30 years." - Denise Holmes.

Annual Fun Day for Manorlands partially tied, lease for free and are only taking offers on the fixtures and fittings including the spacious three bedroom living accommodation up stairs.

"It is a surprisingly affordable proposition and one that we hope will keep the pub in the hands of a local person."

"It's a chance to live in the country and create an idyllic life. The fantastic thing is that it is all set up as a going concern. The new lease holders can just step into the business. No reasonable offer will be refused and we will take serious written offers between July 1 and Aug 31st." Questions, queries, or for more details contact: Tony or Denise: 01535 645930 email: tonyholmes999@me.com Written offers with contact details to The Golden Fleece, Oakworth BD22 7PR.

In a nutshell, this is a great opportunity for someone to take over the Golden Fleece, a traditional Bronte country pub in Oakworth, near Haworth. The pub is For sale due to retirement. The 16 year part tied lease is to be included FREE! Property comprises 3 bedrooms living & dining rooms, parking, cask ale, beer garden, trade kitchen, seating for 80+ Closing date for offers: Aug 31st 2015 (A very affordable business, as all you are buying are the fixture & fittings!)

Silsden's Grand dePARTY

Anyone visiting Silsden recently will have seen the preparations for the town's Grand deParty in July remembering the visit of the Tour de France a year ago.

There are orange-themed hanging baskets outside many of the shops, businesses and community buildings, and also decorated tulips in many of their windows, to recognise that this year's Grand Depart is from the Netherlands.

Silsden's Grand deParty starts on the same day that this year's Tour de France Grand Depart opens - Saturday 4 July - when there will be a 'Grand Day out in the Silsden Park'. With lots of events for all the family, this fun day in the Park will be a celebration of this well-used community space.

The following weekend sees 'Showcase Silsden' which will be based around the three churches and the Town Hall - all in easy walking distance of each other within Silsden centre. This community day, which will be held on Saturday 11 July (which will be opened by the ringing of the 6 bells of St James' Church at 10am and finishing at 4pm), is a showcase of many of Silsden's community groups, providing a fun and convenient way for people to find out more about the groups- and possibly decide to join one. There will be a Craft Fair at the Town Hall (organised by Been Busy) as well as an art exhibition from pupils of Hothfield Junior School.

A now famous annual Silsden event, this year's Proms on the Farm will be on the evening of Saturday 18 July at Sycamore Farm Brunthwaite. With the music of The Skelmanthorpe Band (playing music from the Last Night of the Proms - featuring soloist Sarah Halstead) and also Sultans of Swing and The Big Bang.

The last Sunday in July is always Silsden Gala - with this year's gala, which is organized by Silsden's Gala Committee, being on Sunday 26 July. The parade is at 1pm and then entry to the gala field is £1. What a great finale for Silsden's Grand deParty 2015!

Look out for other events in Silsden during the Grand deParty in July - by checking out the Grand deParty Notice Boards in the centre of town and also via updates on Facebook SilsdenGranddeParty, Twitter@granddeparty and at www.granddeparty.org.uk

CONNECTING IN THE COMMUNITY

Liz Barker receiving the Community Impact award sponsored by Morrisons at the Sue Ryder Yorkshire Women of Achievement Award ceremony.

It is one year since the county was painted yellow and festooned in seemingly endless strands of bunting. For for my part, this time last year I was immersed in Fields of Vision, a landscape art project that placed the Worth Valley in the eyes of a global audience, culminating with significant media coverage throughout the weekend of the Grand Depart and a great swell of pride in everything Yorkshire.

Local schools enthusiastically supported and participated in the spectacle and the various opportunities for engagement. Worth The Tour, the community group set up to make the most of the Tour de France in Keighley and the Worth Valley, was equally active in pulling resources and people together.

On reflection, some of the biggest 'take aways' from the experiences of last year have to do with the benefits of building community cohesion and connectedness. A shared vision along with shared resources enables big ideas to flourish. In addition to the obvious interest in everything cycling, a renewed willingness to work with others with different perspectives continues to be a legacy of the Tour de France.

The truth is, we can achieve so much more when we pull together; like the saying goes, we are stronger together. Focussing on the things that unite us and not getting hung up on taking 'sides' frees us up for real collaborative and creative work. Understanding that each individual has a unique part to play and is valued is also essential for sustaining vibrant community life.

In May this year I was honored to receive the very first Community Impact award at the Sue Ryder Yorkshire Women of Achievement ceremony held at the Royal Armories in Leeds. It was humbling to be in a room with seven hundred guests, many of whom were community champions and committed contributors to various companies, organizations, and schemes fixed on making Yorkshire a better place to live and work.

I was inspired by the enthusiasm in the room and went away thinking about how I could continue to support the good work that is going on in the Aire and Worth valleys. It is sometimes difficult to know in which direction to put ones energies, but I feel excited by the prospect of continuing along the collaborative and creative routes that were established when the greatest cycling race passed our doors. Liz Barker, editor

Behind the scenes at the museum

The summer is always a busy time for visitor attractions – lots of events and activities happening and lots of news to tell people about. In our next instalment of People at the Parsonage, we meet the Museum's Marketing and Communications Officer Rebecca Yorke.

Tell us a little about yourself.

I grew up in rural mid-Wales but have lived in the north of England for over 20 years. As I'm married with two daughters who keep me very busy, I don't ever seem to have 'spare' time, but I'm an avid reader and enjoy writing. I also love being outdoors and am a member of Calder Valley Fell Runners. The Museum is the perfect place for me to work - it's an inspirational mix of literature and landscape.

How long have you worked at the Museum?

I started in January this year, so I'm one of the newest staff members. I feel like I've been here a long time now though - hopefully that's a good thing!

Tell us about a typical day.

I haven't had one yet! There's always a lot going on. The day might start with a meeting with colleagues to discuss events that need promoting, or speaking to journalists about forthcoming news items. I am also responsible for our leaflets and adverts, our website (www.bronte.org.uk) and social media platforms and I handle all film and media enquiries. We are all very busy preparing for Charlotte's bicentenary next year and I am responsible for the marketing of that and the other Bronte200 events which will follow.

What's your favourite piece in the collection?

I'm still finding new things to wonder at. I love listening to my more knowledgeable colleagues talk about the collection and have been fortunate enough to observe our Collections Manager Ann Dinsdale share some of the special items with visitors on the Treasure Tour – a real treat! I am fascinated by the letters, notebooks and diary papers in the collection, but am always drawn to Emily's paintbox.

And your favourite Brontë novel?

I'm currently rereading 'The Tenant of Wildfell Hall' which is great, but my favourite is still 'Wuthering Heights'. I first read it when I was 16 and it has stayed with me. I have a very battered copy on my shelf at home.

Anything else you'd like to tell us?

I love working in Haworth and getting to know the people who live and work here. I'm a great believer in 'joining things up' and think that we can all achieve more when we work together. I'm really pleased that we're building on our relationship with Keighley and Worth Valley Railway and look forward to developing more partnerships with local businesses throughout the bicentenary period.

WORTH VALLEY

COUNTRY COOKING & FORAGING FOR FOOD

For the promotion of Health & Wellbeing by Cath Bromwich

I once made this while sailing off the Peloponnese. The Greek yoghurt & oranges were beautiful. I don't get seasick but segmenting oranges is a challenge when you are being tossed about by the sea! However on land or sea it's worth the effort. This is a cost-effective, grown up pudding & lower fat than bought equivalents.

CHOCOLATE & ORANGE PUDDING

Ingredients:

150-200g dark or milk chocolate, broken into pieces

500g pot Greek style yoghurt (any fat content works)

A few oranges (1-2 per person) or tinned mandarins

Instructions:

Heat the broken chocolate in a bowl over a pan of water. The bowl should be big enough to sit on top of the rim of the pan & its bottom should not touch the water! Bring the water to the boil then turn the heat straight off. Keep stirring until the chocolate is melted, then take bowl off the pan. Alternatively melt the chocolate in the microwave with short bursts of heat, do not burn!

Quickly mix the yoghurt into this, chill.

The mixture may be a little lumpy with bits of chocolate in!

Using a sharp knife; segment the oranges over a bowl. Catch any drips of juice in the bowl. Contact me for further instructions if unsure! Other flavours you can add to the chocolate mix are chopped ginger in syrup or orange juice & zest. Also a little alcohol like Cointreau added to the oranges works well. The dark variety of this pudding is a little tart. I suggest you tell the kids it's a grown up pudding & don't let them try it!

Serve the orange segments & chilled chocolate yoghurt together.

Option: Create a Cheesecake by adding a bisquit base:

Ingredients:

12 digestive biscuits (crumbed), 25g melted butter. I also add 1-2 desert spoons of sugar. A little orange zest & grated chocolate can be added .

Instructions:

Mix this all together. Press into a baking tin with a removable base. Smooth the topping (Chocolate & Orange Pudding) on top, chill & then remove the tin base. The chocolate topping should have solidified.

Image Transfers onto Furniture

Transferring an image onto a piece of furniture is simple way to decorate a piece, especially if you would like to give it a shabby chic French feel.

Here is my step by step guide to achieving the look-

Step 1 - Choose an Image

The website, www.graphicfairy.com can help you with this. Here they have lots of French typography images and old advertising signs that can be printed for free. They even reverse the image for you so it will appear on the piece of furniture the correct way around.

Step 2 - Paint the furniture

Paint the piece of furniture first. I recommend using Autentico Chalk Paint, as there is no need to sand or prime the piece before painting.

Step 3 - Transfer the image

Print the image in reverse and using a small paint brush cover the ink on the sheet in Autentico Art Medium and stick it to the piece of furniture. Scrape with a bank card to thoroughly press down the image. Leave over night to dry.

Step 4 - Rubbing off the paper

Take a bowl of water and with a small sponge gentle wet the paper. Keep rubbing the paper with the sponge until it comes away leaving the ink.

Step 5 - Wax

Allow the piece to thoroughly dry. Then it can be waxed. This will protect the image and also the piece of furniture.

Why not have that old piece of furniture spruced up with a lick of paint.

At Elliot May we offer a bespoke painting service with a choice of decorative paint techniques and with over 120 paint colours you can really create a unique piece.

Or have a go yourself! With Autentico Chalk Paint there is no need to strip, sand or prime - just give the piece a good clean and paint away.

A day in the life of a volunteer on KWVR railway

The alarm goes off at 6:30 and I have to do a double-take because it's a Sunday. I come to my senses and remember that it could be so much worse: at least one colleague's alarm would have woken them well before 5am to light the steam engine. Leaving the house by 7.30am, I report for duty just after 8am, signing to confirm that I'm fit to undertake the safety critical role I'm rostered for at Oakworth Station. As a child (and a bit more recently too) I loved The Railway Children film and so had to watch it every Christmas without fail, and this was my motivation for joining as a volunteer when I moved to the area.

Back to my duty, I unlock the station buildings and move the trolleys and other vintage paraphernalia out on to the platform to set the Edwardian scene before the first train arrives. I let Damems station know that the station is open by sounding the block bell '5-5-5' (five rings, pause, five, pause five), and get their reply to confirm that they are on duty too.

The first train leaves Oxenhope at 9am and a little later the 'treddle' bell sounds, alerting me to the train passing over the sensor at it leaves Haworth so I know it's only a matter of a few minutes before it will arrive at the signal just down the line. The bell is my cue to don my hat to complete the period uniform and to leave the confines of the beautifully maintained booking office. After checking for traffic and letting one final motorist through, I close the gates to the road, take the two interlocking keys from the gate mechanism and use these to unlock the ground frame, releasing the levers that operate the signal. Pulling the signal to the 'off' position indicates to the oncoming train that it is safe to proceed across the level crossing.

The train arrives and several passengers open the windows and lean out to grab a few photographs and one family alights. Once I've checked that the doors are firmly closed and latched, I blow my whistle to indicate to the guard that the train is ready to depart. The train pulls out of the station, I replace the signals and open the crossing gates. It's not quite as frenetic as Mr Perks running around in the film, because for dramatic effect they replaced our two gates with four smaller crossing gates, but I can still imagine that Bobby (Jenny Agutter) will appear looking for her daddy...

After the train goes, and I've shown the passengers round the booking office, let them operate the gas lighting (there's no electric lighting anywhere in the station) and taken them to the waiting room with its period vacuum cleaner, it's time for a quick polish of the brass, a cup of tea and then to wait for the next train to arrive before Mr Perks-ing all over again.

If you would like to train for this or any other operational role, please do get in touch and you too can realise your childhood ambition. (01535 645214)

Kale Caesar Salad

Dressing:

- 4 Cloves of garlic
- 3 Heaped Tbsp of mayonnaise
- 5 Anchovy filets or equivalent paste
- 120g Parmesan or Pecorino cheese grated

- 100ml Olive oil
- 1 tsp Worcestershire Sauce
- 1 tsp Dijon mustard
- 1 Tbsp Lemon Juice
- 40ml Apple cider vinegar

Salt and Pepper

(Option: reserve 2 anchovy filets to chop and place on top of the salad before serving along with a little of the grated cheese.)

Put all dressing ingredients into a blender or food processor and blend well.

Finely chop two bunches of kale into fine ribbons, place in a large bowl and massage the dressing into the leaves. Top with your choice of croutons and serve.

Health benefits of kale

Portion for portion, kale is hard to beat when it comes to the number of nutrients it contains and a great choice for those wanting to enjoy a healthy balanced diet. Kale is an excellent source of vitamins K, A and C, as well as containing useful amounts of manganese, copper and phytochemicals.
