After a visit to the Tower of London exhibition of poppies I can only say what a moving tribute it is to those who fought and died in the First World War and worthy of a visit before the 11th of this month when it is dismantled. (Learn more here: <http://poppies.hrp.org.uk> and p19) Take a look at the great offer this month, notably 2 meals for £10 at the Black Bull in Haworth, p18. Many seasonal events and Christmas markets can be found in our community pages. Enjoy November!

COUNTRY COOKING & FORAGING FOR FOOD

For the promotion of Health & Wellbeing by Cath Bromwich

Sloe Stew Slow

Still finding uses for the produce from that bountiful afternoon last month, I decided to use my sloe and crab-apple jelly in a simple venison stew. Simple but careful cooking can result in something really tasty that expresses autumn's fanfare of flavours. I have been so pleased to find other uses for sloes, and I so love fruit jellies in savoury, meaty dishes, that this seemed an obvious choice. Blackberries are often cooked with venison; they are flavours from the same season and a deliciously well-suited match. So the sloe and crab-apple jelly should be too!

Using a game meat makes the stew a bit different, and the price was not much more than for beef. Venison is lower in fat than other red meats, and gives a lovely flavour.

I was determined to make a really richly tasty concoction, so the first thing I did was to ask the butcher for a beef bone to roast slowly for several hours. The house filled with the smell of a tasty Sunday lunch. Alas, nothing to eat yet! I saved a bit of fuel by adding sweet potatoes to the oven to roast at the same time. The browned bone was then put in a stock pan, & chopped onion, leeks and carrot were added with water, to simmer gently for several more hours. This is definitely a SLOW stew, but worth every minute. I saved the beef dripping that had collected in the roasting pan for use in the stew.

Top Tip: Make a simple soup from some of the stock, chopped roasted sweet potato and sweetcorn, season with salt and pepper. Real stock adds so much taste to food that you don't need to be fancy with your cooking.

Cath Bromwich, a Silsden resident, is a cookery teacher and forager.

Early this morning, I chopped an onion and 'sweated' it slowly in a pan with half a teaspoon of the beef dripping, salt and pepper. Once cooked, I popped it in my sturdy slow cooker (or you can simmer very gently in a pan, keeping meat covered with stock). I added a tiny bit more dripping to the pan I had cooked the onions in, and turned up the heat to medium. After removing any sinews from the venison pieces, I rolled them in seasoned flour, and fried them in the pan to brown them. Once you put the meat in, leave it to brown: if you move it about, it won't, and you miss an opportunity to pick up extra flavour! Finally, I removed the meat to the slow cooker and poured the stock into the pan, scraping off the meaty residue from the bottom and heated it before adding to the meat.

Now we work on tenderness: bring the stew to the gentlest of simmers, with the slow cooker on high for around half an hour. Both with a pan & slow cooker you want a few tiny bubbles popping on the surface, but barely visible. I turned the dial to low and let the whole thing mull away doing its thing until tea time (7-8 hours), interrupting only at midday to add a couple of heaped spoonfuls of sloe and crab-apple jelly. The whole house was filled with a beautiful bouquet...

When you are ready to cook your accompanying vegetables for tea, have a taste: if the meat is tender and there is enough seasoning, then you are ready to go.

Ingredients

Stock: Beef bone, roasted; 1 onion, 1 leek, 1 carrot (water to cover) For the stew: One onion chopped fine, flour, salt, pepper, 1 tsp beef dripping, 500g stewing chunks of venison, approximately 500ml beef stock, 2 large spoonfuls of sloe and crab-apple jelly.

Cook your sloe stew slow...

Keighley & Worth Valley Railway

November always feels a bit like the lull before the festive storm. Santa is finalising his preparations, and his Pixies are busily wrapping gifts ready for the Santa Special trains that run every weekend in December. They are very popular and some trains are already full, so please do book soon on www.kwvr.co.uk to avoid any disappointment.

So what will 2015 hold for the Railway? After a busy programme of events in 2014 and a lot of work behind the scenes, we have a number of projects in the advanced stage of development. We hope to secure funding for the cafe at Oxenhope, which will provide our long-overdue catering facility and we also hope to start work on refurbishing the interior of the Keighley Water Tower building, which we hope to develop into a visitor centre, managed by our Young Person's Group (YPG).

To advertise call Karen or Liz on 01535 642227

The YPG warrants mention in itself: this is a carefully-supervised group for 13-15 year old volunteers, which prepares them for joining as an adult volunteer in a variety of roles, including 'permanent way' (maintaining the track), the locomotive and rolling stock departments (repairing as well as helping to crew the engine when old enough), stations duties, catering and tour guiding. Our challenge is to make sure that we pass the knowledge and experience down through the generations to ensure we have the expertise in future decades. With this in mind, we intend to refurbish our engineering and storage areas at Haworth, which will give us a better training facility, and also give us a better viewing area for visitors, who currently get to see very little of the magic that happens in Haworth shed, where our volunteers breathe life back into 100+ year old steam locomotives, and have done since the first steam locomotive arrived on the line 50 years ago in January 2015. Next year will be a very important one, as we see the fruits of our planning labours, but also as we mark this 50th anniversary of the first 'working' members, who are the ones that work tirelessly to make all that you see happen. I do hope that you will consider joining us, whether you can offer just a few hours a month or are looking for a (semi-)retirement project, and whatever your area of interest!

The website has more information on how to get involved as well as the latest news on forthcoming events and details of how to book Santa train tickets.

As ever, if you do have any comments, compliments or concerns, please do get in touch with me via the Station office at Haworth, the website, or on email: matthew.stroh@kwvr.co.uk

Sandy celebrates 10 Years!

Modern life is challenging. We juggle work commitments, family life, and then squeeze in time for ourselves in between. Cleaning, ironing, gardening, these are usually activities on the top of our to do lists. Why not get help?

The good news is that affordable help is on hand and only a phone call away. Sandy Morphet of Oakworth Cleaning Services celebrates 10 years in business this year. Sandy provides a host of services and has an impressive track record keeping local homes and businesses gleaming. "We have some lovely customers and I like to think we offer them something more than a run of the mill service; we like to add value where we can." Sandy asserts. "Most of our customers use us weekly but we can do one off cleans or seasonal work too." Sandy isn't one to boast, but her clients were eager to sing her praises. We spoke with Mrs Rhodes in Oakworth: "I phoned Oakworth Cleaning Service when I broke my ankle five years ago; I was marooned on the settee feeling fed up with not being able to do the cleaning. Sandy was very helpful and responsive; she arranged to have our house cleaned that same afternoon. I've never looked back, we have had weekly cleans ever since! My husband agrees, it's worth every penny!" November is a poignant month and Oakworth Cleaning Service's anniversary coincides with a significant time of remembrance. With a daughter serving in the armed forces, Sandy's heart is close to charities like Help for Heroes, The British Legion and SSAFA.

"I am very sympathetic to those who have loved ones on active duty or who have suffered a loss. I'd like to express my gratitude to those who serve and to the families who are supporting them. It can be very stressful and nerve wracking"

"It is not always easy to know what to do or how to help but I'd like to pledge £5 to Help for Heroes for each new booking Oakworth Cleaning Services undertakes in November."

"I'd also like to thank the local community for their support over the past ten years; it has been a privilege to work with so many different people."

Collaborative Creative Café

Cobbles and Clay the art café on Haworth's Main Street is an oasis for both the local community and visitors to Bronte County. Established in 2006, this family friendly place welcomes all to enjoy food, friendship and creative play.

Entrepreneur and community champion, Jill Ross, runs Cobbles & Clay and has maintained a local focus from the start, providing space for groups like the Haworth Ukelele Group, Haworth Festival, Open Mic Sessions, Bronte Book club, Haworth Fairtrade, and a variety of creative workshops. The need for a bigger kitchen to support the expanding cafe coupled with a desire to nurture a live music scene led Jill to find larger premises. It was good fortune when another property became available only a few doors up the street.

The renovation began in March and included the commissioning of local trades people from the Worth Valley community. "It's been wonderful to work with so many talented people," Jill said at the opening party on October 25th. "Our builder, John Schofield and his team have been fantastic; they helped us at each step along the way. The staff at the café also worked tirelessly and contributed to making the move a success. I want to thank them all for their hard work. Together we've created something very special indeed."

The 'new' Cobbles & Clay has some notable & exciting additions:

- Introducing Pickles and Pots Deli
- Extended speciality range of teas
- New menu including tagines & stews from a slow cooker (Don't panic, customers' favourite dishes will remain on the menu, like the Lentil & Veg soup, Tuscan Bean Stew & Lucy's Sticky Apple Cake).
- Bigger breakfast menu
- Cosy wood burning stove in a 'snug'
- Private party and function room
- Vast range of pottery for painting

Pop in and see the 'new' Cobbles & Clay Open every day 09:00 to 5:00 pm 70-72 Main Street, Haworth.

Tel: 01535 958961 (please note new telephone number)

In addition to their staff Jill and Michael Ross would like to thank the following people for their help with the renovation of the new Cobbles and Clay: John Schofield (main contractor/builder), Darren Vidic (plumber), Ryan Breeze (electrician), Michael Holroyd (Flooring), Craig Dyson (artist in metal work), Glen & Craig Ogden (decorating).

SPECIAL OFFER: 2 MEALS FOR ONLY £10

The Black Bull
Haworth,
119 Main Street,
Haworth
01535-642249

Haworth's famous pub, The Black Bull, now under new management, is raising the bar.

"Getting the beer right was the first thing we looked at," said landlord Jim Winchester. "People expect real ale and quality is key. We think we've got that right," he asserted.

"Secondly, the food has to be good home cooked pub fayre offering traditional choices like Yorkshire pudding, Fish and Chips, Sausage and Mash. It has taken a little longer than we expected but we have invested heavily in getting the kitchen up to speed and we are now serving food daily from noon until 6pm with a 2 meals for £10 deal. We hope that demonstrates our commitment to offering our customers real value. We also want to give people an incentive to come in to the pub and give us a try."

Another focus is on music. With live entertainment three nights a week, The Black Bull is pulling in musical talent from across the region.

"We welcome everyone in the community; fellow local traders, visitors, OAPs, families. Well behaved dogs are welcome in the front bar area too."

There are 9 car parking spaces. (That is a rarity in Haworth!)

Say you read about The Black Bull in the Aire Valley magazine and enjoy the special meal deal for our readers. 2 meals for £10!

Yorkshire Parkin

This cake benefits greatly for being wrapped tightly and left to mature for a few days making it sticky and chewy so please be patient with it!

Ingredients

- 100 grams golden syrup
- 25 grams black treacle
- 75 grams butter
- 75 grams soft brown sugar
- 175 grams porridge oats
- 75 grams self-rising flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 1 pinch of salt
- 1 egg (small, beaten)
- 1 tablespoon of milk

- 1 Pre-heat the oven to gas mark 1, 275F or 140C. Grease and line a loaf tin.
- 2 First weigh a saucepan on the scales and then weigh in it the syrup, treacle, sugar and butter, place over a gentle heat and let the butter melt, don't let it boil.
- 3 Meanwhile in a bowl put the flour, porridge oats, salt and ginger. Once the syrup mixture has melted stir into the dry ingredients. Once combined add the egg and milk.
- 4 Pour into the tin and cook for about an hour in the middle of the oven, or until the centre feels springy to the touch.
- 5 Let it cool for 30 mins in the tin before turning it out and allowing to cool fully before wrapping and maturing it. Enjoy.

Just a note on the oatmeal: if you can't find medium oatmeal buy porridge oats and blitz them for a few seconds in a food processor; do not over-do this, you want rough crumbs, not dust.

Why the Poppy?

The poppy has a long association with Remembrance Day. But how did the distinctive red flower become such a potent symbol of our remembrance of the sacrifices made in past wars?

Scarlet corn poppies (popover rhoeas) grow naturally in conditions of disturbed earth throughout Western Europe. The destruction brought by the Napoleonic wars of the early 19th Century transformed bare land into fields of blood red poppies, growing around the bodies of the fallen soldiers.

In late 1914, the fields of Northern France and Flanders were once again ripped open as World War One raged through Europe's heart. Once the conflict was over the poppy was one of the only plants to grow on the otherwise barren battlefields.

The significance of the poppy as a lasting memorial symbol to the fallen was realised by the Canadian surgeon John McCrae in his poem In Flanders Fields. The poppy came to represent the immeasurable sacrifice made by his comrades and quickly became a lasting memorial to those who died in World War One and later conflicts. It was adopted by The Royal British Legion as the symbol for their Poppy Appeal, in aid of those serving in the British Armed Forces, after its formation in 1921.

Glusburn Community and Arts Centre

When you enter Glusburn you may wonder what is the beautiful building with a dome and clock tower on the top? What you see is Glusburn Community and Arts Centre, also known as Glusburn Institute by local people.

The Institute is not only a historical building and the centre of village life, it is also a symbol of great vision from mill owner Sir John Horsfall (1846-1920). As a young man he must have witnessed the terrible conditions of some factory workers; long hours, poor pay, brutality in the mills, drunkenness, money spent in the alehouse and hungry children. He didn't want his employees to suffer these conditions; he wanted them to see their homes and families as a priority. For that reason in 1892 the Institute was built, as a religious, social and educational centre to help improve local people's lives. It is not an exaggeration to say, that every event of any importance was held at the Institute since it was built. There was the Cricket Club, The Bowling Club, the annual Exhibition and Festival, the Big Christmas Tree in the Main Hall, the Drama Group, the Youth Club and the Pensioners Tea, and of course the outstanding event of the year; three day 'Conversations'. Starting on Thursday with people arriving by horse and carriage for what was called locally as the 'Posh Night', Friday was 'Children's Night' with a performance followed by dancing and games and Saturday was the 'Everyone's Night'. We don't have Sir John Horsfall anymore to organise social events and yet they still happen, time has passed but his spirit remains. This spirit you will surely feel and recognise when you visit Glusburn Institute.

September 2014 coincided with National Eye Health Week, with a large drive to raise the awareness of both maintaining eye health, and eye diseases which affect the UK today.

Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) is Britain's leading cause of blindness and usually develops in people aged 50 and over. AMD is a painless eye condition that leads to the loss of central vision. An individual's central vision allows them to see what is directly in front of them, with AMD vision will become increasingly blurred leading to difficulty reading text, colours appearing less vibrant, difficulty recognising people's faces, and straight lines such as door frames can appear distorted or bent. Macular degeneration does tend to be more common in women than in men.

There are two main types of macular degeneration; Dry AMD is the most common form and affects around 90% of patients. Wet AMD is more aggressive & causes a rapid loss of central vision caused by leaking vessels, so fast referral for treatment is necessary. People affected with Wet AMD will begin to notice shadowy areas and/or distortion in their central vision (see below).

Smoking, age, sunlight/UV exposure and diet all play a role in the development of AMD, as well as gender, blood pressure and genetics.

Unfortunately, there are no treatments for Dry AMD. Wet AMD is currently treated with an injection into the eye. AMD sufferers are encouraged to adopt certain lifestyle changes such as maintaining a healthy diet which includes fish and plenty of green vegetables, stopping smoking, and wearing good quality UV protecting sunglasses when outdoors.

Your Optometrist is able to check for Macular Degeneration as part of your routine eye examination, they will also provide advice if you have any signs of the condition, or refer you to a specialist if urgent care is needed.

Ocular Coherence Tomography (OCT) is being used by a handful of Optometrists in the Aire Valley area to detect the very earliest signs of any Macular Degeneration. The OCT is like a detailed ultrasound of the retina; it's painless and gives results instantly as to the health of the macula. It is also used to diagnose the very earliest signs of Glaucoma, retinal detachments and many other eye conditions.

For more information about this or any eye related issue please contact Optometrist Mo Hafejee at Airedale Opticians Keighley and Crosshills.

Here's what our advertisers say...

Advertising in the Worth and Aire Valley magazines has been critical to the success of my business. The magazines are highly rated by my customers and I have lost count of the number of people who tell me that they found me in these magazines. I have tried numerous ways to advertise my business but none of them have been as successful as advertising in the Worth and Aire Valley magazines. Sensible advertising costs and local content make these magazines a focal point in the local community.

Chris (Bristles Chimney Sweep Service)

I have advertised with the Aire Valley Mag now for a number of years to which I have had a fantastic response, I feel that the magazine is an honest publication that local people have learnt to know and trust. I know from the feedback that I have received from my customers that this little book is not only an interesting read but also provides a solid base for local business to promote their services. I can only thank Joanne and the team for consistently providing a quality publication that is well presented, has great distribution and is favoured above other such magazines that we receive through our letter boxes. May all your great work continue!
