May is the month when the Worth Valley goes nostalgic. With the Bronte Vintage Gathering and the Haworth 1940's Weekend lined up, the bunting will be waving in the streets along with bloomers, pantaloons and Union Jacks.

Engines of all kinds will be displayed and paraded on the fields and through the streets; tractors, jeeps, military vehicles, fancy cars from near and far will be polished and gleaming proudly. Enjoy planes, steamtrains, and a variety of amusements; jive dancing in the streets, sing-a-longs and re-enactments...put on your party shoes and join in! We will keep our fingers crossed for a very special 'Fly Past,' dependent on the weather. Both the 1940's weekend and the Bronte Vintage Gathering are charity events raising money respectively for the Keighley branch of SSAFA & Sue Ryder Manorlands.

Ready For Takeoff

This year, the Haworth 1940's weekend over the 18th and 19th of May is themed; as it coincides with the 70th anniversary of the iconic 1943 Dambusters raid. I think everyone who has seen the film still feels a tingle on hearing its stirring music. To celebrate the 70th anniversary, Committee member Andrew Kissack has arranged with artist John Francis and printer Howard Baker to produce 70 limited edition prints, portraying a Lancaster bomber over the dam. Each one of these has been signed by 91 year old George "Johnny" Johnson, the last surviving British crew member, who was bomb aimer of Lancaster T for Tommy on the Dambusters raid.

The limited edition signed prints are available now as a lasting memento at £100 each, with smaller unsigned prints at just £10.00. Profits from the 2013 event will be going to SSAFA (Soldiers, Sailors & Airmen's Families Association) who do amazing work helping service personnel and their families.

The 1940's committee has broadened the appeal of the weekend with more venues and added attractions. The Parsonage car park will be transformed into the Haworth Airbase, featuring a Dambusters Exhibition and live entertainment. On the airbase there will be an 18ft wingspan model of a Lancaster bomber and a full size replica Spitfire - have your picture taken, sitting in the cockpit! Talking of Spitfires, we are proud that weather permitting there will be a flypast by the WW2 memorial flight of a Spitfire and a Hurricane on both days.

Haworth Central Park will be a major entertainment area with a licensed Veterans Marquee, Jive dancing, live music and stalls. And of course, these will be superb parades and a static vehicle display in Main St

Once again, we are producing our "Picture Post" programme for just £2.00. This is going to press, packed with articles about wartime exploits and full information on the programme. Last year they all sold out, so we are printing an extra 1,000 copies and we hope to have them in time for the May Day Bank Holiday, on sale at the Tourist Information Centre, Firth's and the Apothecary on Main St., so get yours early and avoid disappointment.

A Helping Hand

Last year, our Marshals did a sterling job, but for 2013 we are going to need even more, so if you want to be part of this success story raising money to lend a helping hand to our service men & women please call John Taylor on 07768 383153.

WINED & DINED with Claire Smith from No.10 The Coffee House

It seems that at long last spring has arrived, and the collective cheer is almost audible, I have just returned from the stables where Jimmy, the new love of my life, (sorry Billy) is rapidly losing his winter coat in preparation for summertime, when he will sport with pride, his glossy and gleaming chestnut garments (although he loves nothing better than a good roll in the mud!)

He is also desperate to get at the tufts of verdant spring grass beginning to sprout jewel-like along the emerald edges of the yard. The leaves on the trees are finally beginning to unfurl, primroses, celandines and wood anemone's can be seen dotted amongst the hedgerows, and gardens are slowly coming back to life. May is usually the month which heralds the return of asparagus, new potatoes, nectarines, gooseberries, watercress and the elderflower with all it's attributes and uses, but with weather conditions pushing growth back by approximately a month, country lanes are as yet bereft of elderflower, and though some stores have chosen to offer their customers the opportunity to purchase Jersey Royals, they are likely to have been grown indoors, as floods and frosts in January, the month in which farmers would normally plant new potato crops, have delayed the planting and subsequent harvesting of the new potato. Experts estimate that the cost of our fruit and veg has rocketed by around thirty- four percent in the past five years, grain prices are also soaring which has had a knock on effect to the cost of meat as a large proportion of these crops are grown for animal feed.

The days however are lengthening, bringing lighter nights, and as I sit writing this the birds outside are still singing – at eight thirty in the evening, a positive sign that better things wait just around the corner. Spring may have taken a little longer to arrive but we have much to look forward to, each season, though sometimes unpredictable, remains eternally rich with promise, often, when summer gallops in on the back of springtime and everything explodes at once, nature breaks into a carnival of colour, country lanes dressed in clouds of the creamy white flowers of hawthorn, elderflower, and cow parsley, their perfume carried on gentle summer breezes; flashes of pink campion and cornflower blue; wild strawberry flowers, diminutive and star like and the tiny scarlet fruits that follow. Green grocers shops, their interiors lined with wooden crates cradling cultivated British strawberries, delicately blushing peaches, gleaming red cherries and sweet and tender little garden peas. The earth is teaming with life just waiting to burst forth. In our house we are currently preparing the garden for balmy summer evenings and alfresco suppers; Pimms, champagne with a dash of violet syrup - here's looking forward to a lovely summer.

Shades of Green

Aire Valley Decorating Centre is a traditional store in Keighley, selling decorating products for trade and DIY. It's the only outlet in West Yorkshire for eco-friendly Earthborn paints.

Co-owner Jason Laycock offers some tips on healthy DIY.

Spring has arrived at last, bringing with it the DIY season.

Decorating makes your home feel fresh and new and can be fun. But if you don't take proper care it can harm your health as well as the environment.

Paints contain chemicals called VOCs (Volatile Organic Compounds) that cause those horrible fumes – and for some, they can have serious health effects. Not many people realise that breathing in paint fumes can do more damage to your lungs than smoking. For anyone with allergies, asthma or chest complaints – or if you're committed to a 'green' approach there's a simple solution. You can plump for an Eco-friendly paint like Earthborn, which contains no oils or VOCs. This is safer for people with health concerns as it allows the decorator, their family and their home to breathe more easily.

Look for an Eco-label flower to show your paint meets the EU's tough environmental standards. As Eco-paints don't give off greenhouse gas emissions they're licensed by DEFRA

(the UK government's farming and the countryside department). Johnstone's do an ecological range which meets EU Eco standards.

If you don't want to go the whole hog and buy specialist Eco-paints, there are still ways to protect your health and the environment while decorating.

1, Choose a suitable water-based paint – with today's technology, they perform as well as oil-based products but are cleaner and healthier:

- They have fewer VOCs.
- If you splash paint on your skin, you can clean it off without harmful solvents.
- You can clean brushes in soap and water, rather than costly white spirit which could harm the environment.

2, Open a window when painting indoors and let air circulate. This lessens the effects of fumes and helps paint to dry evenly. Air is more important than heat for forming a surface film.

3, Never pour paint down the drain. It could enter watercourses, causing environmental damage. It can be traced back, then you could be fined. Pour unused paint back into the tin and take it to a household waste site where they will dispose of it for you.

If you need advice on eco-friendly painting or any other decorating matters, don't hesitate to drop in at Aire Valley Decorating Centre or give us a call on 01535 608355.

Haworth Through the Lense of History

A Chivalry Walk
8.9miles (14.3K)

1. We start at the top of Haworth on the church steps. Go through the grave yard following the path round to the left and exiting the church yard via the kissing gate. Continue along the path and up the steep hill to Penitence. Cross the road and continue straight on until you reach the main road at which you turn left towards the Bronte Waterfalls.

2. Cross the cattle grid and continue along the clearly marked path to the Bronte Waterfalls. Cross the bridge and follow the path uphill to Top Withens.

3. Just before reaching Withens the path goes left up to the ruin but our walk takes us right heading back towards Stanbury. Continue along this road for about three quarters of a mile and then just before reaching the first inhabited house near a stone wall turn left, the path is not that easy to see!

4. Follow this path down towards Ponden Clough. Eventually you will cross a bridge turning right off it and steeply down to the Clough. Continue to follow the footpath down towards Ponden. Follow the path round the edge of the reservoir and then down to Ponden Mill where you will eventually get withins Slack to the main road.

5. At the road turn right heading up the hill past the silent inn to Stanbury. Stay on the road through the village and down towards Haworth. Just before Stanbury cemetery follow the footpath on the left down to Lumb Foot. At the bottom of the little footpath turn left and follow the road round to the right, go through the farm and across the fields next to the stream. Continue along to Long Bridge, going over a stile then over the second stile on your left, follow the stream down to Spring Head & Lord Lane.

6. Go up the steep hill to Changegate, and back into Haworth. Main Street for a well earned drink.

Bluebell facts..

Some estimates suggest the UK has up to half of the world's total bluebell population 71% of native bluebells are found in broadleaved woodland or scrub.

Tennyson speaks of bluebell juice being used to cure snake-bite. The romantic poets of the 19th century, such as Keats and Tennyson, believed that the bluebell symbolised solitude and regret source: woodlandtrust.org.uk

Best local places to walk amongst the Bluebells

St. Ives Estate, A Bradford Met Council wood in Bingley. A wonderful Country Park with woodlands, open moor, a wildflower meadow, and paths throughout. Adventure Playground for the children. Coppice Pond offers both fishing opportunities and a chance to feed the ducks. Lots to explore for all ages.

Hardcastle Crags Pecket Well Clough, National Trust wood. Hebden Bridge. A unique trail through a secluded wooded valley with many miles of footpath, rich in plant, bird and animal life, with hints of the area's industrial past. Huge beech trees were originally planted in the 1870s. You may see numerous species of fungi, growing on the ground, on trees or deadwood.

Oxenhope Delivers more!

Continuing our introduction of the magazine distribution team, May brings you the three Oxenhope distributors, Roger, Ella, and Frank. It's not just the young ones who enjoy getting out there and delivering your mags...

Roger is a local Painter and Decorator running his own successful business but he fancied a bit of variety and exercise and saw the chance to achieve this at the same time as getting to know Oxenhope and its residents a bit better. Look out for him if you live up Leeming, (especially if you need a decorator.)

Frank is a student and has a keen interest in journalism so he may end up writing this column at some point. He's relatively new to the Upper Oxenhope round and has only ever delivered mags in snow, wind and rain. He's an animal lover with a family of 3 dogs, 4 chickens, 6 guinea pigs and a quantity of fish whose numbers change frequently. He's a keen wrestler and is a member of an American style wrestling club. Go to YouTube and search for Frank The Tank "The Future of British Wrestling".

Ella is also a student studying for GCSE'S and aiming for a place at university. She's well known locally, and is very active in the Oxenhope

Youth Club, being on the committee and helping to raise money and plan events and activities. This energetic young woman is always out and about and saw a chance to earn money at the same time, delivering to Lower Oxenhope.

It's amazing what these distributors get

Cherry Blossom (by Jo Longbottom)

Have you seen the cherry blossom
Blustering off the branches?
Fluttering and flurrying,
Confetti bridesmaid dances.

Have you seen it twirling
Up towards the cloudy skies?
Swirling like blown snowflakes
Round all the passers by?

Can you count them,
Spiralling?
Scattering and scutter,
Blocking all the drains
As they drift into the gutter?

Soon they will be wilting
Drab and dry and drown'd
Squashed and squelched and slippery
Slimy on the ground.

But its a spring time snowfall,
Pandemonium of petals.
A May melee of madness
Swooped, swept high, then settled.

Keeping your Pets Young and Healthy

Did you know that for every year that we humans get older our cats age approximately 5 years and our dogs age between 6 and 10 years depending on their size and breed.

This means that the health of a 10 year old cat is broadly equivalent to a 50 year old person.

Larger dogs age more quickly than smaller breeds, so a 7 year old Jack Russell is like a person in their late 30s, but a Great Dane would be ready to retire and draw their pension.

Like us, dental disease is common in dogs and cats as they grow up, but unlike people, pets don't clean their teeth every day; despite the fact that they eat a far more processed diet than nature intended.

Poor dental care leads to smelly breath, caused by plaque, tartar and gingivitis. This is also a worrying source of infection which can spread through the blood stream affecting kidneys and heart valves particularly.

Your pet could benefit from a range of products designed to help prevent dental disease like: pet toothpaste, mouthwash, chews, dental dog biscuits and special food; all to help improve and maintain your pet's oral hygiene.

Interested in finding out more?

You are welcome to join us at a free event on Tuesday 11th June we'll be discussing preventative health care including dental hygiene to help keep your cat and dog fit, healthy and happy.

There'll be a raffle for local pet charities, refreshments and a shop. Our Vets and Nurses will be on hand to answer your questions.

Please reserve your place with our reception team as space is limited. Full details are on our website:

Three Worth Valley lads, Tom Lee, Sam Cameron, and Sam Corrigan will join 38 of their peers from the county to take part in a special Himalayan expedition this summer. Organised by the district Scouts movement, the journey will entail a 18-day adventure with a challenging trek in the mountains (at a height equivalent to Everest Base Camp,) and special community work, including projects in local orphanages and schools.

The challenge has already begun at home with each participant having to raise their fitness levels in preparation for the high altitude activities. Each has also had to raise £2,500 to fund the trip. It has been a combination of individual and team effort to reach their goal.

The expedition is asking for donations of colouring, art & craft materials, sports equipment, any games and educational equipment to take along to the orphanages schools and hostels. If you think you can help please contact india@wyscouts.org.uk or Mrs Lee 01535 642432

YOUR DIGITAL AFTERLIFE by Michelle Thompson of Cloud FreeIT

Once upon a time people took their prize-possessions to their grave, but building yourself a pyramid or burial mound in which to store all your goods and chattels ready for the afterlife is probably 'a bit ostentatious' these days, and anyway have you tried getting planning permission around here lately?

There's no pocket in a shroud, or indeed very much room in your standard coffin, so most people leave their precious collections of books, DVD & music collections, photo albums and paper documents, to family and friends to keep or dispose of as they see fit; an arduous task for them.

My kids raid my vinyl, CD and cassette collection, from time to time when they're on the hunt for something a bit 'retro' that isn't available on the streaming services that they favour for their music consumption. In the last few years I switched to buying music from download sites, such as iTunes. It's all on my laptop and gets backed up to an external hard drive. A lot of my photo collection is in boxes and cupboards, but everything from the last 10 years is on my laptop. What a mish-mash!

'Hanging onto stuff' clutters up my home and my life, and weighs me down, apparently. Going totally digital would sort that out. I made a start once or twice, honest, but what a long job!

Storing all photos, music and other data 'in the cloud' (and by that I mean on a server in a datacentre somewhere, not in a massive pile of 'UStore' boxes guarded by angels) is becoming the norm. The cloud has to be THE safest place to store your 'digital life' as long as you're careful about security (strong passwords, changed frequently, not shared with anyone). There's no need to worry about hard drives dying suddenly, or losing the lot in a house fire or burglary, and you can access it from anywhere if you need to.

Our collections and mementoes say a lot about us and could be important to our loved ones, but in digital form they could be a lot harder to pass on safely when we shuffle off this mortal coil.

Most of us store email (and attachments) in the cloud without thinking about it. You may not realise just how much good, useful and very precious data you have got stored all over the place. What would you like to happen to all that data when you no longer have a use for it? Would you want or need your family to share access to it? Probably.

Worry not! Cunning plans are afoot! New concept alert! 'Your Digital Afterlife'!

Google intends to give users of their services the option to have their data deleted after 3, 6, 9 or 12 months of inactivity, or have their data sent on to nominated and authorised contacts in the event of their passing. Facebook now gives you the option to 'memorialise' an account after the user's death, so remember when I mentioned 'Digital Footprints' last month, eh? Keep yours clean and tidy!

This is all sounding rather like the hand-over of control of other assets (e.g. a bank account), so you might want to think about stating your preferences in your will.

You can be sure most online storage providers won't be far behind Google and Facebook. I'll start uploading my millions of photos to the cloud, sooner rather than later. If I start now there'll be fewer piles of 'stuff' for the kids to sort out when I'm gone.
